

Introducing the NEW...

...Creekside Creative Arts Group

Impacting New Frontiers through the Arts

Are you a budding painter, poet or photographer? Or perhaps you dream of publishing one of your own short stories someday? Art takes on many forms and if you are wanting to connect with others like yourself, then the Creekside Creative Arts Group (CCAG) may just be the answer!

Under the leadership of Sharon and JP Jolicoeur, CCAG is a diverse group of young adult and adult artists that will be meeting biweekly on Saturdays in the new Creekside Centre Fireside Room. The format of the gatherings can vary as much as the individual artists themselves, and will include small individual interest groups, special speakers and guest artists presenting in a large group, creative challenges, “Kids Focus” or “Youth Focus” Nights and more.

Community Nights, known as Céilidhs (pronounced “KAY-lee”), will be an evening where the artists can share their poems, display their works and perform for the enjoyment of all who attend. We look forward to meeting our Clayburn Community Neighbours!

If you would like more information about this exciting new group, you can contact Sharon or JP Jolicoeur at 604-859-5520 or [jps Sharon.joli@gmail.com](mailto:jps Sharon.joli@gmail.com)

Céilidh:

Its origins in Ireland and Scotland, a céilidh was a social gathering of any sort, and may not have always involved dancing. As well, it might include literary entertainment where stories and tales, poems and ballads, are rehearsed and recited, and songs are sung, conundrums are put, proverbs are quoted, and many other literary matters are related and discussed. In our context, we embrace all the fine arts.
